Tori fights for the win

Over the weekend Tori Brazier travelled to Wollongong to compete in the Total Impact 6 Muay Thai and Kickboxing Beach Bash.

There were a total of 15 fights on the card with three title fights on the night. Tori fights out of Chaffey's Black Belt Academy in Tamworth.

She fought the number two bout on the night up against Kiarra Plummer from Fite 108 gym. They fought over three, two minute rounds in the lightweight 63kg - modified Thai. After the six minutes it came down to a points decision with Tori taking out the win.

Tori would like to thank Chaffey's Black Belt Academy and everyone for all the support shown her through the last couple of weeks, and especially those who made the journey down to watch her.

She plans to continue training and hopefully get another fight soon.

Tori Brazier is hoping for another fight after winning in Wollongong

New Principal settles in

Guyra Central School Relieving Principal Michelle Nicholson and Deputy Principal Gillian Davis

Mrs Michelle Nicholson has this week commenced as the Relieving Principal at Guyra Central School, prior to her permanent appointment to the school in 2018.

She is an experienced central school Principal having served in that position at Wilcannia Central School and more recently Norfolk Island Central School.

Mrs Nicholson has thanked the students, staff and those parents and community members who have made her feel so welcome to Guyra.

She spent most of her first day on Monday meeting staff and students and working with Mrs Gillian Davis to do a Principal 'handover'.

Mrs Davis has been acting in the role since the beginning of term 2 and will now take up her substantive position as the Deputy Principal of Guyra Central School

"I would like to thank Mrs Davis on behalf of the whole school and wider community for the excellent work that she has completed in the role of relieving Principal these past months," Mrs Nicholson said.

"Mrs Davis and I will continue to work very closely, engaging with staff and student executive and with the whole school and wider Guyra community to develop the 2017-2020 School Plan."

"I am very keen to meet with as many of our parents and community members as possible, and to hear what you believe is working well at the school or help us to identify, in your opinion, those things that need additional attention."

Guyra farmers take on Q fever

The Guyra NSW Farmers Branch and the Guyra Medical Centre are waging a war on Q fever with a local vaccination program.

The program includes a blood test, a free skin test and vaccination for those exposed to disease risk.

Newly elected chair of NSW Farmers Guyra Branch, Callan Schaeffer, said NSW Farmers would cover the cost of the skin test.

“There will be a cost of $132.00 for the vaccination if it is deemed necessary, as it is not available on the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme,” Mr Schaeffer said.

“Q fever is a debilitating disease, but the good news is that it can be prevented with vaccination. I encourage all farmers and their families to take this opportunity to get vaccinated.”

NSW Farmers Executive Councillor and Guyra farmer James Jackson said Guyra is a Q fever hotspot with 22 per cent of the population having exposure risk to the disease.

“People working with animals are especially at risk. The bacteria that causes the disease is found in most farm animals but is also present in cats, dogs and native animals such as kangaroos,” Mr Jackson said.

“The range of people at risk is growing as we understand the extent of the disease. Green keepers and gardeners are at significant risk due to exposure to native animal droppings.

Farmers, shearers, vets, vet nurses, abattoir workers

Guyra Branch Chair
Callan Schaeffer

and anyone handling the clothing of these workers are at an extreme risk of contracting Q fever.

The disease can present as an acute flu like condition that is quite debilitating in itself however some people contract a chronic form of it that can have a debilitating effect on the patient for months or even years.

If you are over 15 years of age and are at risk of contracting this illness you are encouraged to partake in this program.”

The Guyra Medical Centre will be hosting two Q fever Clinics, with the first starting on 1 November for blood screening, 8 November for skin testing and 15 November for the vaccination. The second clinic will start on 29 November.

For more information about this vaccination program please contact Jenni Jackson on 0403080536 or email jenni.jackson.60@gmail.com before 25 October.

Guyra gardens prepare for opening

On November 11th & 12th four local gardens will be open to the public as a fundraiser for St Mary of the Angels and Kolara Aged Care Facility. Kooralbyn, The Old Manse, Old Belmont and Hillside will open to the public in what will be a rare opportunity to visit these beautiful gardens. Over the coming weeks we will profile each of these gardens in preparation for this event. This week we take a look at Sue and Richard Campbell's garden Hillside (344 Falconer Rd)

Weekly Wool Market Report

It was another very positive week for the wool market. Like last week it was the Merino types that were keenly sought after whilst the Crossbred sector continues to remain on a slide.

Gains were once again made over both selling days especially for the finer types. The closing quote for the Northern Region Indicator is the second highest weekly close in over 20 years. 36,358 bales were sold nationally for the week with a passed in rate of 3.1%.

Major buyers included Techwool, Fox & Lillie and Seatech. The Merino Skirting and Carding market also tracked the Fleece types upwards and some renewed interest was evident on the lesser style types that have been struggling of recent times.

Weekly auction offerings normally start to steadily increase this time of year but current forecasts are not predicted this increase as yet. With AWEX data already showing a 10% lift in bales offered for the season to date the expected jump in weekly offerings may not occur.

Consumer confidence in many parts of the world appears to be on the rise as does economic growth in some of the major wool consuming countries.

HILLSIDE - a work in progress

Hillside was purchased by Richard's father Ossie Campbell in 1946. The house was moved from Hillgrove, an old mining town east of Armidale, in the 1920s and is believed to be the old dance hall. There wasn't much of a yard and very little garden. Around the house there were three young willow trees about three metres from the back door, one clump of agapanthus on the eastern side and four rose bushes along the front of the house.

When I came here in 1969 there wasn't any water available to the garden. Despite this, I did try to start a garden. The second fence was erected in 1975 and further out from the house to make a yard for the girls to play in and to restart a garden. I built three rock gardens and planted many bushes and trees. Some of these have since been taken out as the trees were too close to the house or did not survive.

Early on a large native hedge along the south eastern side blew over one extremely windy day. This area is very windy, with southerly and westerly winds blowing almost all of the time and we also get gusts coming from the north. These winds prove to be the most destructive, as we have lost fully grown trees and large branches from trees in the sheep yards and the house yard. Last year the top of the Claret Ash and the side of the Manchurian Pear were blown down. The rabbits, kangaroos, dogs, sheep, cattle and the odd snake have made gardening a bit trying at times.

A lot of plants have come from friends gardens along with the snails. The first lot of trees either died from lack of water in the drought years, or were eaten by sheep or cattle. On one occasional we had a plague of grasshoppers and this, together with the drought, only one tree survived.

Eventually we built a bigger dam and pumped water up to the yard. By this time I had planted trees (Mexican Pines, Gums and Silver Birch) outside the garden fence in the hope that the fence may be shifted again in the future. This happened in 2000 and some of the smaller trees were moved to be included inside the yard. I was then able to plant more trees and a White Escallonia hedge along the northern side and a smaller Pink Escallonia hedge on the southern side.

At the moment, the garden is a work in progress as we have taken out twelve trees, being established ones and various small ones, which required the tractor to lift them out of the ground leaving large holes to be filled. Due to house extensions and relocation of pathways on various occasions, the structure of the garden has evolved.

Three years ago a new garden was built to enhance the Wisteria Archway. With the English Ash, Cotoneaster and Tulip Tree being well established, this gave me the opportunity to plant some shade loving plants such as Begonia, Hellebores and Hostas.

There were five old tyres of wall flowers that were given to me. I planted these so I would have instant flowers and these have spread like noxious weeds. I am still adding to this garden. Last year I made a garden of Hellebores under the Manchurian Pear and another garden under the Lipstick Maple. At this stage I am still endeavouring to replace plants and change the garden beds, but the mind is more willing than the body!!

Cyclists pedalling hard

Guyra cyclists have been pedalling hard this month despite the wet, windy and cold weather.

The team of thirteen hardy cyclists has clocked up 2208.3 km in the first two weeks of October, as part of the Great Cycle Challenge.

The challenge is a national Children's Medical Research Institute (CMRI) fundraising initiative held throughout the month of October.

For all their hard work they have already raised $2110 to help fight kids cancer, however they still have a way to go to reach their goal of 5000km by the end of the month

Peta and Lettie Kerr, the two youngest riders, have ridden an amazing 106km between them and raised $465. It is a very personal journey for the sisters with Peta currently undergoing treatment for a brain tumour.

Cancer is the largest killer of children from disease in

Lettie and Peta Kerr are the youngest riders

Australia. Over 600 Australian children are diagnosed with cancer every year and sadly, three children die every week.

During October people of all ages, abilities and from every state across the country set themselves a personal riding goal and challenge themselves to pedal to fight kids' cancer.

A big thanks to everyone who has supported and sponsored the riders so far. It is with that support, the riders keep motivated to ride for such a good cause.

You can support the Guyra cyclists at www.greatcyclechallenge.com.au

Joan celebrates with High Tea

The family of Joan McElroy invited Kolora residents to a "High Tea" to celebrate Joan's 90th Birthday on October 6th.

Unique creations in concrete

A new venture for local couple Kiralee Alt and Dan Lennon proved a hit at the recent Trout Festival.

A desire to restructure their business led to the launch of DK Concrete Designs earlier this year.

They specialise in decorative concrete creations, including polished benchtops, custom furniture and homewares as well as all general concrete work.

The furniture and decorative items are made with a lightweight concrete which is moulded to create a range of unique products.

"It is quite a time consuming process, but the results are worth it," Kiralee said.

"We started out making candles and gradually added new items such as small pots and vases."

"We are also starting on some bigger items like coffee tables, dining tables and benchtops to expand our range."

"These can be custom

Kiralee Alt at the recent Trout Festival

made and we can help with the design process."

Their range of products has created a lot of interest and they had a lot of very positive feedback at the Trout Festival.

"Everyone was really interested and we had some really positive feedback and sales," Kiralee said.

"I think it's because they are a bit different to a lot of the other stuff that you see."

Dan works fulltime as a concreter and Kiralee also has a fulltime job, but they spend their spare time on their new venture.

You may see them at more markets in the lead up to Christmas

In the meantime you can find DK Concrete Designs on Facebook and they also have a website.

Get ready to celebrate Grandparents Day

Local grandparents, seniors and families are encouraged to connect across the generations this NSW Grandparents Day.

NSW Grandparents Day celebrates the contributions grandparents and older people make to their families and communities.

It's a day to celebrate all the great things our grandparents and seniors have done, and continue to do.

Held on the last Sunday in October, this year NSW Grandparents Day will be celebrated on Sunday 29 October at the PCYC Markets in the Mall in Armidale and a special mid-week event at the Guyra Library on Wednesday 1 November.

At the Markets in the Mall event in Armidale activities will include crafts, scrapbooking, knitting, garden pot decorating, a reading corner and dance.

In the Guyra Library on Wednesday 1 November Council will host a series of activities from 10am - 1.30pm including a morning tea and cake cutting, giant chess, knitting, reading, card making workshop and 3D printing.

NSW Grandparents Day is an initiative of the NSW Government that provides older people with opportunities to connect with their families and communities.

Council's Youth Services Coordinator Cara Barnes and Debbie Gwynne, Customer Service Officer and grandmother of three, are looking forward to Grandparents Day activities.

Wool Handling and Shearing

On Wednesday 11th October, six keen shearers from Guyra Central School attended a 'Wool Handling and Shearing' course at the Agriculture research station in Glen Innes, organised by Regional Development Australia Northern Inland.

The students were initially briefed about major areas of concern in the wool industry where they had guest speakers talking with them about issues such as the latest biosecurity regulations and future employment prospects.

The students then engaged in practical workshops such as looking at various shearing equipment, wool classing, processing, and shearing. All students improved their skills and technique significantly and were able to confidently shear independently by the end of the day.

SRC plans for the future

Secondary SRC members from Guyra Central School recently took part in a planning day to work on events, fundraisers and promote new learning opportunities.

The student representatives spent the day brainstorming creative ideas from the student body suggestions which were then expanded on and took into action.

Some of the ideas from the students have been accepted by the SRC and are now being implemented into the school environment.

The suggestions included to get more lockers for senior students, a new SRC iPad to be used for a Guyra Central School SRC Facebook page to keep parents and students updated with upcoming events and student achievements.

They are also working towards holding two movie nights and two socials per year in the coming years.

Premiers Debating Challenge

On Thursday October 12th some student's from Year 8 competed in the Zone Finals in the Premier's Debating Challenge against Armidale High School.

The topic was that "Australia should close its zoo's" and Guyra were the affirmative side of the debate.

Year 8 student Joseph Stanley said that although the team didn't win, he has learned so much from this opportunity and hopes to start again in Year 9.

"Debating would not be possible without the help of Mrs Adams," Joseph said. "She takes us to workshops and debates and helps us to learn with regular debating lessons."

Bowlers take to the greens

Sunday October 19th saw three games of Club Championships contested.

Major/Minor Three Bowl Pairs, Paul Johnson and David Wilcox played Ian Jacobs and Mallie Walls. David and Paul shot away to a commanding lead leading 11 shots to nil after only 6 ends. Ian and Mallie then set about closing the gap and after 22 ends they had closed the deficit to only two shots. David and Paul were not about to roll over just yet and, by winning the next two ends, they ran out victors 19 shots to 15 shots over 25 ends.

The next game played was a Club Fours contest with Scott Campbell, Barry Presnell, Barry Campbell and Cameron Peardon playing Phil Kliendienst, Chris Kliendienst, Peter Brodbeck and Wayne Reeves. Phil and team were out of the blocks first leading six shots to nil after only two ends. Scott then opened his account and the chase was on. By end 13 Phil and his team had skipped away to a lead 16 shots to 7 shots. This was where Phil and team hit the wall allowing Scott and his team to catch up. Scott won the next four ends closing to within four shots. Phil and his team then closed out the game taking victory 20 shots to 14 shots over 21 ends.

The third game was an Open Singles game between Robert Walls and Scott Swain. This was a marathon encounter with both bowlers sharing the lead on six occasions. Robert held a slender lead by end 33 but Scott was not about to give in as he dug his heels in and eventually took the game 31 shots to 26 shots over 37 ends.

Club Championships set down for this weekend, Saturday October 21st. Start: 1.00pm. Starter and Umpire: John Jackson.

Major/Minor Three Bowl Pairs: Barry Presnell and

Michael Jackson to play Roger Cox and Boyd Stanley. Major Singles: John Jackson to play Andrew Sparke marker Steven Sole.

Sunday October 22nd. Start: 12.00pm. Starter and Umpire: Robert Walls. Club Triples: Dan Kennedy, Greg Mitchell and Graham Starr to play Phil Kliendienst, Mallie Walls and Robert Walls.

New app to help motorists find cheapest fuel

MOTORISTS across the Northern Tablelands now have the upper hand in the battle for cheaper fuel, with the NSW Government's new FuelCheck app to provide real-time fuel prices for all service stations across the State.

Member for Northern Tablelands, Adam Marshall said the app provides a simple way for consumers to find the lowest prices in the region.

"The FuelCheck app will help drivers find the cheapest petrol near them, improving competition between retailers and potentially saving hundreds of dollars each year," Mr Marshall said.

"This app ties into state-wide data – it can provide advice on the cheapest days to purchase, find cheap petrol on your route and notify you when fuel reaches a better price.

"With this information at a motorists' disposal, a more transparent market will diminish retailers' attempts to price discriminate based on location or convenience."

Northern Tablelands MP Adam Marshall checking out the new FuelCheck App

Mr Marshall said he anticipated the app would be particularly well adopted by Armidale drivers, who have struggled with exorbitant fuel prices for years.

"We've long seen the impacts of diminished competition in Armidale," Mr Marshall said. "The city has historically paid a marked premium for fuel, prompting my campaign for an investigation into why retailers are ripping off Armidale drivers at the bowser.

"While the ACCC report disappointingly found no evidence of direct collusion between retailers, we all know what's going on in the region and the fuel retailers' price gouging practices.

"There is no panacea to limited options on the market – but this app will provide a compelling case for retailers to heighten competition with their neighbours."

Retailers are bound to the price displayed on the app – if it doesn't match, the driver can make a complaint directly to NSW Fair Trading.

The FuelCheck app is available now on Google Play and the App Store, and is compatible with all iOS and Android phones.

We looked pretty in pink as we Teed Off for Breast Cancer on Wendy George's Trophy day. Kath Varley and Joyce Betts were thrilled to win the Mystery 4BBB Stableford Multiple with 59 points. Donna White and Belinda Lenehan were runners up with 52 points. Nearest the Pin, equal first, were Karen Oehlers and Wendy Jackson who measured 3.15 centimetres from the pin on the 9th.

We acknowledge the generosity of the Guyra Bowling and Recreation Club for donating the green fees for the day, to show their support for this fundraising initiative. The Breast Cancer Institute of Australia (BCIA) coordinates this national golfing event, which has been running for 20 years, supporting clinical trials research to save every life from breast cancer. Thirds get first win for Guyra

There was a full round of cricket for Guyra on the weekend with all four teams taking to the field.

The match of the round for Guyra was the third grade game which saw the first century of the season go to newcomer Matt Finley. His 113 helped Guyra to an innings total of 6 for 321 in their game against Barbarians. Simon Brown (46) and Craig Lockyer (55) both batted well in support.

Guyra went on to victory dismissing the Baa Baas for just 110 with Matt Smith (3 for 23) and Liam Northam (3 for 11) the best with the ball.

The under 16s went down in their game against TAS Blue at the Guyra Sporting Complex. They batted first and finished their day on 5 for 67. Best with the bat were Garth Walls (16 no), Matt Smith (15) and Tim Brazier 11. Nick Page claimed the only wicket as TAS went on to claim victory.

In second grade Guyra went down in the game against City, who set the pace making 8 for 153 off their allocated overs. Wickets for Guyra went to Tom Smith (2 for 25), Jake Ellis (2 for 26) and Andrew Page (2 for 22).

Troy Martin, Jason Campbell and Corby Kliendienst all scored 15 in the run chase, which fell short with Guyra all out for 102.

In the game played on the Guyra Turf, first grade put on a slightly better performance than the previous week. City won the toss and sent the home side out first on what was a cold and windy day. The openers failed to perform, with middle order batsmen Charlie Keen (28), Jake Davies (15) and Shane Wolfenden (10) adding some respectability to total, before a late order collapse saw Guyra all out for 79 runs.

Guyra looked to be in with a chance after BJ Cameron opened the bowling and claimed two early wickets. They proved to be the only wickets for Guyra with City claiming victory in the 26th over.

In this week's games the under 16s will play Hillgrove at Newling 1, thirds will be at home against Hillgrove, seconds will play on the Guyra Turf against Easts and first grade will face up to the Barbarians at Lambert Park.

BJ Cameron claimed 2 for 12 in Guyra on the weekend
